School: Blinn College, Bryan

I suggest the following amendment to Article III Section 2 Subsection B of the Texas Junior College Student Government Association Constitution.

Current text:

No one college administration (as defined by the presence of a college president) may be represented in the TJCSGA by more than three independent student government associations as defined in Article III, Sec. 2, Sub-sec. A of this constitution.

Amend to Read:

No one college administration (as defined by the presence of a college president) may be represented in the TJCSGA by more than five independent student government associations as defined in Article III, Sec. 2, Sub-sec. A of this constitution.

Purpose of the Amendment:

As the number of community colleges with branch campuses increase over the state of Texas, it is only fitting to provide them with a voice in the Texas Junior College Student Government Association. Amending the constitution to allow more than three branches per SACS accreditation/college president will give them this voice.

Is this a housekeeping or overhaul amendment? Overhaul
